PROJECT IS APPROVED

Peace Committee Favors the Anglo-American Plan.

VICTORY FOR UNITED STATES

Majority in Favor of the Proposition Greater Than Hoped For—American Delegate Teaches Austro-Hungarian Delegate a Lesson.

The Hague, Oct. 8.—The approval of Monday evening's session of the committee on arbitration of the Anglo-American project for obligatory arbitration referred to during the course of the debates as the permanent international high court of justice, the court of arbitral justice, obligatory arbitration and universal arbitration, is regarded as a great victory, especially by the United States. The first proposition on this subject was presented to the conference on July 8 by the American delegation and Joseph H. Choate, the first American representative, has worked unceasingly and determinedly for its acceptance.

The project was approved with a majority greater than was hoped for. It is essentially American and its basis, the enunciation of the idea of compulsory arbitration, was taken bodily from the American proposition. The vote Monday, 31 ayes to 9 noes, the countries in opposition being Germany, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, Belgium, Roumania, Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria and Montenegro, proved that M. Renault of France said in the discussion, "arbitration is not a strange beast that must be muzzled."

Another great success for America was the unanimity with which all the countries of the American continent stood firmly with the United States, thus putting an end to the impression of lack of harmony between the governments of the Western hemisphere created by reports of recent dissensions. Only Senor Barria of Mexico declared that he would vote against the article of the project, his government being of the opinion that it restricts the action of the national courts. Dr. Barbosa of Brazil and Dr. Drago of Argentina made declarations of a similar nature.

Germany's Efforts in Vain.

The compactness of Latin-America was more noticeable Monday, inasmuch as it is known that Germany exercised strong pressure to get support from some South American countries. All the combined efforts from Berlin on the different governments of their capitals and from Baron Marschal von Bieberstein, the head of the German delegation, on the delegates here, had only one effect, that of inducing Austria-Hungary to vote against the measure. In committee Austria-Hungary accepted several cases to be submitted to obligatory arbitration. Germany succeeded also in inducing Italy to abstain from voting, but the triple alliance sufficiently explains this. But outside of the triple alliance Germany made headway only because she does not accept General Horace Porter's proposition regarding the collection of contractual debts, which is a matter connected with a project of obligatory arbitration. Thus Switzerland, a country which cannot bombard the ports of any American debtor country, is the only power which refuses to adhere to the new doctrine forbidding the employment of force for the collection of private pecuniary debts.

During the afternoon sitting of the committee Herr Merer von Kapos-Mere of Austria-Hungary caused an incident by again raising the question that it was useless to conclude treaties with the United States, as the American senate might refuse to ratify them, but he received from James Brown Scott of the American delegation such a lesson that he will remember it for a long time.

Criticized the United States.

The Austrian declared that contrary to M. Renault's assertion at the sitting of last Saturday the conditions in the United States in the matter of arranging treaties were not analogous to those in any other state. "It is not a question of good faith, which is out of discussion," said Herr Merer von Kapos-Mere, "but the government of the United States, after concluding a treaty with Austria-Hungary did not ratify it, explaining that the American senate had imposed a condition that ratification would compromise, namely, a special agreement to be submitted to the senate. This is an obstacle against which not only the peace conference, but even the American government is powerless."

Mr. Scott then arose and said with much irony:

"I am touched at the lesson on American internal constitutional law which the delegate from Austria-Hungary has given me. The question of ratification and compromise belongs solely to the internal constitutional law of the United States. It is different to international law, whether the compromise be by sovereigns or by legislative bodies or by both. A foreign government looks not to the progress, but to the completed act and it has no right to discuss or examine the internal means by which the act is concluded. It is the result, not the process, which is important. They say the United States cannot conclude a compromise. My reply is that the American government has concluded a compromise in the very cases submitted to The Hague tribunal. I challenge Herr Merer von Kapos-Mere to cite a single case in which the United States, being bound to make a compromise, did not make it."

The Austro-Hungarian delegate, although disconcerted by this vigorous answer, arose and said he found Mr. Scott's explanations insufficient because they failed to demonstrate why the United States had failed to ratify the treaty of 1904; why the American senate reserved its ratification of the compromise. Mr. Scott, calmly and with dignity, then answered:

"I have only one reply to make: The policy of the United States is not a subject for discussion at an international conference."

Hearty applause greeted this short but eloquent reply and it made the position of the Austro-Hungarian delegate so embarrassing that he did not care to say anything more.

An unpleasant incident occurred during Monday's session of the committee. It became known that Senator Machain of Paraguay had voted in place of his father-in-law, Senor Medina of Nicaragua, who was absent. This aroused severe comment and caused Senor Machain to explain that he did not know he could not vote in behalf of another delegate. The occurrence threatens further developments. Senor Medina, who is at present in London, has sent word that he will return to The Hague.

CITIZENS FIGHT CRACKSMEN

Burglars Escape In Automobile After Battle With Villagers.

Cando, N. D., Oct. 8.—The bank at Churches Ferry was robbed early Monday morning of more than $5,000 besides valuable papers. The safe was dynamited and the building is reported badly wrecked. Citizens were alarmed by the explosion and a fight ensued. The robbers escaped in an automobile and as yet no trace of them has been found.

Business Blocks Burned.

Oxford, Neb., Oct. 8.—Fire here destroyed more than half the store buildings and part of the contents of the principal business blocks of the town. The total loss is slightly in excess of $100,000, with insurance of $47,000. Six business firms were burned out. The fire started in a drug store and with a strong wind blowing was difficult to control.

LOW PRICE NO OBJECT

Railroads Would Not Buy Oil of Trust's Competitors.

HAD PROVEN SATISFACTORY

Officials of Railroads Praised Quality of Lubricant Furnished by Opponent of the Standard and Then Paid Higher Prices for Trust Product.

New York, Oct. 8.—Testimony that railroads purchased their lubricating oils from the Standard Oil company at prices that were higher than those of its competitors was heard Monday in the federal suit for the dissolution of the so-called oil trust. Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricating Oil company, which was engaged in a long strife with the Standard in the lubricating oil industry was on the witness stand all day and testified that though the products of his company had proven satisfactory to the railroads and were sold at prices under the Standard's figures, the railroads declined to renew their contracts with the New York Lubricating Oil company. Mr. Harrison said he was never openly told by the railroad officials why the contracts were not entered into again, but he had a well defined idea of the cause.

The New York Lubricating Oil company entered into a contract in 1903 to supply the Louisville and Nashville railway for a period of two years, said Mr. Harrison, and six months before the contract expired President Milton Smith of the railroad informed the oil company that it need not endeavor to obtain a renewal of the contract. Mr. Harrison testified that he had informed President Smith that if he was permitted to bid for the business he was prepared to reduce the price of engine oil from the current contract price. Notwithstanding the fact that President Smith had praised the quality of the oil and that it was offered at a lower price than that asked by the Standard, Mr. Harrison said the Louisville and Nashville railway entered into a contract with the Galena Signal Oil company, a subsidiary of the oil combine.

Mr. Kellogg, counsel for the government, showed the witness the contract entered into by the Louisville and Nashville and the Galena company after the railroad's contract with the New York Lubricating company had expired and Mr. Harrison said that the figures showed that the railroad paid $30,000 a year more for its oil to the Standard than it would have paid under a contract with the New York company.

Mr. Harrison testified that the Central Railway of Georgia had purchased its oil from his company and that it had been satisfactory. The Standard obtained the business, the witness said, notwithstanding the fact that the oil combine charged a higher price than the New York Lubricating Oil company.

SHOOT JEW MOURNERS.

Black Hundreds Continue Attacks on Hebrews at Odessa.

Odessa, Oct. 8.—The Unionists of Odessa continued their attacks and outrages upon Jews Monday. They began by surrounding the Hebrew cemetery, where a funeral service was going on. First they stoned and then they fired a volley of revolver shots at the mourning Jews, many of whom were wounded. The Jews fled in panic.

Later in the day members of the Black Hundreds divided themselves into small groups and ransacking several Jewish shops, mercilessly beat the proprietors. A police sergeant who attempted to intervene was brutally attacked, whereupon he drew his revolver and killed one of his assailants. There were fewer police than usual on the streets Monday. After further Jew-baiting, detachments of Cossacks arrived on the scene, but instead of pursuing the Black Hundreds they laughed at the rapidity with which they made their escape.

Up to the present time Governor General Novitsky has made no attempt to stop the outrages, but nevertheless they are diminishing gradually.

DYNAMITE PLOT ALLEGED.

Explosive Found Near Residence of Wealthy Denver Man.

Denver, Oct. 8.—A package containing fifty-one sticks of dynamite was found by the police on a vacant lot in the rear of Edward V. Chase's residence, 1422 Race street. A search was made after Kemp V. Bigelow, a clerk in a book store, reported that he had overheard two men near the city park discussing a plot to blow up Chase, Governor Buchtel and a number of other prominent citizens of Denver. A strong guard is maintained at the home of Mr. Chase. He is very wealthy and for many years has been at the head of the syndicate which controls the policy shops and the principal gambling houses in this city.

ROOSEVELT IS IN LUCK.

Conditions Now Favorable for Good Hunting.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 8.—Assistant Secretary Latta started out early Monday to find the president at his camp in the wilderness but has not returned. It is presumed that when he arrived at the camp the president was on his hunt, and that Secretary Latta found it necessary to remain over night. He took a number of personal letters to the president.

Except that the temperature is too humid to render physical exercise enjoyable, the president is having favorable weather. Previous to his arrival there had been no rain for weeks and the conditions were most unfavorable for hunting, the breaking of the dry twigs giving warning to the game of the approach of its foe and the hard surface being very trying to the feet of the hunting dogs.

The president's proverbial good luck was, however, with him in this, as in other matters. A gentle rain was falling when he arrived at Stamboul and there have been two or three showers since. None of them has been of great duration, but they have well served the purpose of putting the forest in the best possible condition for both man and beast in stalking game. True, the atmosphere is steaming hot between showers, but the president is reported to be showing himself capable of rising quite superior to this condition and so far neither rain nor heat has been permitted to interfere with his sport.

YOUTH CONFESSES CRIME.

Admits He Murdered a Young Girl in East Camden, N. J.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 8.—Joseph H. Wood, aged sixteen years, who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the murder of nine-year-old Ethel Nevins, whose body was found in a thicket not far from her home in East Camden on Saturday, made a confession Monday night according to an official statement issued at a late hour by Prosecutor Scoville, in which he admits having murdered the child.

Ethel Nevins disappeared from her home on Thursday of last week. The little girl was sent on an errand with her brother Thursday afternoon and failed to return home. The brother, Leroy, said he had last seen her in a thicket in a common not far from her home. The mutilated body of the child, who had been killed by being struck on the head with a hatchet, was found not far from where her brother said he last saw her. Two boys stumbled over the body, which was half covered with debris. Suspicion pointed to Wood, because Ethel Nevins had told her mother that she was afraid of him. The child had been maltreated prior to the murder.

BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

Senator Lodge Summoned to Tell What He Knows of Corruption.

Boston, Oct. 8.—As a result of statements concerning corruption alleged to exist in the Boston city government made by United States Senator H. C. Lodge at the Republican state convention Saturday, the senator was summoned Monday by District Attorney John B. Moran to appear before the grand jury and tell what he knows of the situation at the city hall. He was directed to appear at the courthouse next Monday. In his speech Saturday, Senator Lodge said:

"The government of the city of Boston has sunk in the eyes of men to a point of degeneration utterly unknown in the annals of the city. The air is heavy with the stories of corruption at city hall, of offices sold, of percentages taken, of pay rolls loaded, of loans made to support men in idleness, of widespread frauds at the ballot box, which should be rigidly investigated and brought to the light of day."

BOYS BECOME BANDITS.

Steal Horses and Eat One and Hold Up a Rancher.

Belle Fourche, S. D., Oct. 8.—Deputy Sheriff Harper is on the track of John Reinhardt and Ed Wheeler, boys of excellent families, but who it is alleged for some unknown reason took a pair of fine horses from Peter Markuson and rode off over the range for Montana. Reaching the Powder river country, it is charged, they killed one of the horses, ate it and then proceeded to be real "bad men" by holding up a cattleman named Osgood, relieving him at the point of a gun of horse, saddle, gun and a few other valuables.

REBELS INVADED PERU.

Ecuadoreans Defeated by the Police Near Piura.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Oct. 8.—A large band of Ecuadorean rebels has been defeated by a detachment of Peruvian police near the city of Piura, Peru. The rebels had planned to invade Ecuador, expecting heavy reinforcements after they had crossed the frontier. In the course of the fighting between the Peruvians and the rebels eight of the latter were killed and thirty were taken prisoners. The rest of the band were dispersed.

BOUND ON RAILROAD TRACK

Michigan Sailor Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Cleveland, Oct. 8.—Beaten into insensibility and bound hand and foot across the railroad tracks in the Pennsylvania yards here, Samuel Hamilton Shaw, a sailor of Port Huron, Mich., narrowly escaped being ground to leath by a freight train early Monday. Shaw was robbed by three men who after knocking him senseless, bound him tightly to the track. He was discovered by the engineer of the train, who barely managed to stop a few feet from the prostrate man.

Murder Is Unsolved.

St. Paul, Oct. 8.—Murder, suicide or accident are the three possibilities in the case of Nestor Thompson, the soldier whose mangled body was found under the Fort Snelling bridge Sunday afternoon. The circumstances surrounding the case are such as to make it a puzzling one to the authorities. The mystery of how the soldier met his death still is unsolved.

May Build a "Sailing Machine."

London, Oct. 8.—John Carlsson, a prominent member of the Swedish Yacht club, declares, according to the Daily Mail, that if the rule of the New York Yacht club cannot be altered to permit a yacht of the cruiser type to contest for the America's cup then a "sailing machine" will be built at Negligence wharf, outside of Stockholm, as a challenger.

County Auditor Smart has received a letter from the authorities of the state reform school asking the payment of a claim for $242.61 for the keeping of an inmate in that institution in 1882. The letter states that a draft was issued against Crow Wing county in 1882 which still remains unpaid. As that was over a generation ago none of the present court house officials have any knowledge of the matter. The letter does not give the name or any particulars as to the case and the present county auditor is entirely in the dark in the matter. It is probable that the claim is outlawed even if just at the time.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh

THEODORE HOOK.

Stories of the Greatest Practical Joker
of His Day.

Of the list of geniuses the name of Theodore Hook is near the top. At sixteen he was making a big income and enjoying great popularity. His name was blazoned in the papers as a prodigy, his portraits were in the shop windows, and he had free admission to all theaters and other places of amusement. For years he was a social and literary lion. His last words were:
"It is only to the grave that I must be carried. If my poor children were safe I would not care. I am suffering under a constant depression of spirits which no one who sees me in society dreams of."

Hook's practical jokes were the talk of the day. His intimates egged him on continually, and there was nothing he would stop at. One day they pointed out to him as an appropriate specimen for his museum a gilded eagle of enormous dimensions which had just been erected over a grocer's shop. A few weeks afterward while entertaining his coterie at dinner at one of the old taverns he ordered the "game" to be served. To the astonishment of the guests the waiter entered the room staggering under the burden of a dish of unusual size. On uncovering it there was produced the identical eagle which Hook as a practical joke had contrived to carry off. Merely for this sort of fun Hook used to pull off knockers and bell handles, carry away tradesmen's signs, overturn the boxes of sleeping janitors and do other devilment until he had a roomful of household attachments and street ornaments.

One night Hook was passing a great house where there was a reception of the swellest of the swells. Dinner had just been announced. He said to the friend accompanying him: "John, I'm going in here to spend the evening. Call for me at 11 o'clock." The friend was horrified. Said he in protest, "You do not know these grand people, and you are not an invited guest." "That's all right. Call for me at 11." Knocking at the door, he gave his hat confidently to the lackey and was ushered upstairs. Entering the drawing room, he affected at first to have discovered his mistake and poured such sallies of wit that the host and hostess actually pressed him to stay for dinner.

At 11 o'clock, when his friend called,
not knowing whether he would find Hook at the reception or in the lockup, he was more than astounded on entering the drawing room to see Hook seated at the piano delivering some extempore poetry to a bevy of the fairest women in the gathering. Perceiv-ing the entrance of this friend, the practical joker, who had not hitherto divulged his name, arose and said:

"I'm very much pleased with your fare,
Your cellar's as good as your cook;
My friend's Mr. Terry, the player,
And I'm Mr. Theodore Hook."

The king, being present and full of enjoyment, took a great fancy to Hook and immediately appointed him treasurer to the island of the Mauritius with a salary of $10,000 a year.—New York Press.

A Big Boiled Dinner.

Cooks in large hotels and boarding houses may think they get up meals on a big scale, but when it comes to wholesale cookery the little village of Liss, on the London and Southwestern railway, England, surpasses them all.
At a barbecue held there some years ago an ox was boiled, not roasted, whole, and this is how it was done:
A large hole was dug in the ground and lined with brick. Inside this a tank large enough to hold the ox was built. The carcass was then lowered into the tank, having first been placed in a case formed by heavy crossbars, to which chains were attached. Pul-leys from a scaffolding above were used to raise and lower the ox. Many vegetables, such as carrots, onions, cabbages and potatoes, were boiled with the meat. The boiling required seven hours.

Not Quite Clear.

A well known clergyman of Boston was once talking to some friends with reference to the desirability of chronological coherence in ideas in the form of written statements, when he observed that there are times when this method becomes a trifle too suggestive.

"For instance," said the speaker, "I once heard a minister in New Hampshire make his usual Sunday morning announcements as follows:

"The funeral of the late and much lamented sexton takes place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"Thanksgiving services will be held in this chapel on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock."—Lippincott's.

A Changed Bird.

An Irishman who wasn't much of a hunter went out to hunt one day, and the first thing he saw to shoot at was a bluejay sitting saucily on the top of a fence. He blazed away at the bird and then walked over to pick it up.
What he happened to find there was a dead frog, which he raised carefully at arm's length, looking at it with a puzzled air. Finally he remarked, "Well, begobs, but ye was a foine looking bird befor Oi blew ther fithers off o' yerse!"—Judge's Library.

The Acorn Base Burners

Save Your Coal

Because They Have the Best Flue Construction

What does this accomplish? Anything more than theory?
Yes! The way to heat a room quickly is to circulate the air, bringing it rapidly into contact with the heated surfaces.
The Acorn Base Burner will circulate all the air in a 12x15 room 10 foot ceiling, through its base in 54 minutes and leave the top of the stove hot enough to light a match. The larger part of this heat would escape out of the chimney if it were not caught and carried into the room by the circulating flue.

Health in the Canal Zone

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. The Sordidness of Crime.

I have met murderers, anarchists, forgers, assassins, would be regicides, burglars, garroters and commoner types of the genus criminal, but I have never yet met a romantic scoundrel. The criminal deserves no flattery, and current literature would be less pernicious if this fact of the essential sordidness of all crime were well drilled into the rising generation. —J. FIRST NATIONAL BANK GETS BONDS

Trowbridge-Nivers Company Assigned Bid for Refunding Bonds and City Ratifies

MUCH ROUTINE BUSINESS DONE

Resolution Adopted by Council Authorizing the City Treasurer to Pay Interest

At the regular meeting of the city council Monday evening the most important business done was the ratifying the assignment of the bid of the Trowbridge-Nivers Company for $38,000 in the city funding bonds to the First National Bank of this city. The assignment was presented by the city attorney and with it a resolution approving the assignment. Mr. Polk spoke briefly on the causes leading up to the assignment and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

The city council was called to order by President Johnson, Alderman Zakariasen, Bouck, Drexler, Turcotte, Fogelstrom, Baker and Toohy responding to roll call. Alderman Graham came in during the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting.

The report of the clerk of the municipal court for the month of September was read and approved. It showed 18 arrests in the city cases with an aggregate of $212.00 in fines collected and $39.40 in court fees. There were 38 civil cases started and six settled and court fees received amounting to $24.45. There were three state cases commenced and five settled, fines in state cases amounting to $50.

The fire department reported three fire calls for the month, in none of which was any hose used.

The city pay rolls were allowed as follows:

City officers.....	$ 263 33
Police officers.....	410 00
Fire department.....	209 00
Firemen.....	15 50
Street employees.....	215 50
Electric light employees.....	531 00

The allowing of bills was then taken up and all presented were allowed except one from the Citizens state bank for interest on orders. As this matter was afterwards provided for in a resolution passed by the council the action of the council in referring it to the finance committee was declared of no effect.

A bill of $10.00 was allowed George Darling for removing a dead horse from the river below the pulp mill and burying it.

Alderman Fogelstrom brought up the matter of replanking the East Brainerd bridge and it was ordered done.

Alderman Fogelstrom also brought up the matter of draining certain parts of East Brainerd of surface water. There was considerable talk over the matter but no conclusion was reached.

A resolution was presented by the city attorney, authorizing the payment of interest on city warrants by the city treasurer and directing the method of procedure in the matter, was passed all members present voting aye.

Saloon licenses were granted Louis Nelson and George Gardner.

Alderman Fogelstrom reported that it would require $200 to fix the bridge on South Seventh street properly and the work was ordered done on motion of Alderman Drexler seconded by Alderman Graham.

Alderman Bouck referred to the statement made at the meeting of the city council and stated that Mr. Budd had informed him that his firm was ready at any time to weigh fuel on the city scales if so desired. Alderman Bouck and Alderman Toohy wanted to know if the city attorney had drawn an ordinance requiring all wood, coal, hay and vegetables weighed on the city scales. The city attorney replied that he had not, that perhaps with the exception of the including of wood in the present ordinance he believed it was broad enough to cover the matter. He did not believe the council could pass an ordinance which would prevent one man selling and another buying a load of wood as a load regardless of the amount in it. Neither did he believe they could compel a farmer or grocer to sell vegetables over the city scales unless the purchaser so desired and he had that privilege now. The most that could be done, he said was to provide that when a person ordered fuel and it was delivered without his seeing and inspecting it the dealer would have to give him a certificate of weight. He did not think there was as much short weight given as people imagined. Often they judged by the apparent size of a pile of coal, judging it by their memory of one bought months before, or by the length of time it lasted. He would, however, draw any ordinance the aldermen wished which did not conflict with state laws.

The matter of the Lum building on Laurel street, or rather the debris of what was once the building, came up and a postal from Mr. Lum was read stating that the debris was owned by Mr. Rhodes, that if that was cleaned up there was nothing dangerous about the rest of the building and it was doing no harm nor was it unsightly. After some discussion the matter was referred to the warden and fire committee with instructions to consult some reputable contractor as to the per cent of damage done.

Alderman Fogelstrom also asked that the street in front of the Reilly building be cleaned up.

The action of the fire committee in regard to repairs on the Third ward hose house was approved.

A motion to adjourn was then made and carried.

HOWE BARN BURNED

Barn on the Property Owned by J. J. Howe and Occupied by Joe Howe Burned Last Night

The fire department was called out last night by a fire which destroyed the barn on the lots with the residence of J. J. Howe, Jr. The alarm was turned in just after 1 o'clock and when the bell rang the sky was light with blaze. The fire apparently started in a shed adjoining the barn in which were stored a number of wagons. In the barn was a large amount of camp equipage, peavies, blankets, etc., owned by J. J. Howe. The barn was worth probably six or seven hundred dollars.

No one now in the city has any authentic information as to the insurance if any on the contents nor as to the value of the goods contained in the building. They are estimated at $1,000. There is $250 insurance on the barn in the agency of Keene & McFadden. So far as learned there was none whatever on the contents. The cause of the fire is a mystery, there having been no one in or around the barn for several days. Fred Howe came to town in the afternoon and usually puts his horse in the barn but that time he put them in a livery. The fire boys had hard work to keep the barn on the Beach property, occupied by H. W. Linne-mann from catching, but succeeded.

Al. Forsyth's House Robbed

The Daily Missoulian contains the following account of the ransacking of the residence of a former Brainerdite at Missoula: The residence of Round House Foreman Forsythe was burglarized some time between Tuesday night and Friday night and yesterday the officers were working to find a clue to the burglars. The Forsyth family was out of town and the discovery of the robbery was made Friday night by Engineer C. A. Davis, who rooms at the residence. He had just returned from Helena and when he went to his room he found that the whole house had been ransacked. Mr. Davis does not know how much was taken from the effects of the Forsythes, but he found all the family silverware heaped on the floor—one pile in the kitchen and other in the front room. The whole house had been upset and everything had been searched.

RELIEVED MANY HERE

Prepare it at Home by Shaking Ingredients Well in a Bottle and Following Directions

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a prominent health journal, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic affliction with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the entire kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter, which cause sickness and suffering. Those who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

Girls With Long Memories. Nora Cassidy, aged ten years, committed to memory 1,000 verses of the Bible within one week. The twelve-year-old daughter of John C. Triplett committed all of the New Testament to memory within three months, during which time her study was interrupted by an attack of measles. Both girls live in a North Carolina hamlet, says a Richmond special dispatch to the New York World. The Rev. John M. Moore told a Baptist Sunday school convention about them the other day. He urged that unless the Bible is studied while the memory is active the fruits of the study will not be retained.

BACHELOR GIRLS' CLUB.

Colwyn (Pa.) Young Women to Eschew Wedded Bliss—Password "Meow." Dressed in yellow, pink and blue, Nursing cats as old maids do, ten strong minded girls of West Philadelphia, Colwyn and Darby, Pa., have organized the Independent Order of Bachelor Girls, says the Philadelphia North American. They meet every week to talk, debate, orate and squabble about the advantages of a husbandless life.

The sole purpose of the organization which is composed chiefly of young women members of the Colwyn Baptist church, is to teach mankind that there are some attractive girls over against whose names it would be unfair to write "object, matrimony."

It is the desire of the members to be as old maidish as they know how, and for that reason each young woman is required to bring a live black cat to meetings and wear in her hair a ribbon of yellow, pink or blue, which ever becomes her complexion best. If the black cat clashes with the color of her eyes or the tint of her hair she may bring a Maltese, but she must bring a cat.

Every member must renew the vows of celibacy once in three years, and in the event of marriage the offending member must pay $25 to the organization.

Fifteen cents a block is the penalty members must pay if they are seen walking with men. It is said that Miss Hannah Morris, the president, has been written down in the books for a fine of $1.25, which must be paid at the next meeting. Fifteen cents a block, $1.25—you may figure it out for yourself, but surely it was a good many blocks for a man hater.

Another member, Miss Ethel Trickett, was seen walking to a drug store with a young man, who bought soda water for her. The young man paid 10 cents for the soda water, and Miss Trickett will have to pay 15 cents for the walk.

The meetings are held every Saturday night in the home of Miss Morris. Crackers and tea are served at each meeting, and once a month pickles are served. "Meow" is the password. The members of the club are Miss Hannah Morris, president; Miss Mary Fritz, vice president; Miss Bessie Wheaton, secretary; Miss Florence Reed, treasurer; Miss Ethel Trickett, Miss Letha Beardsley, Miss Susie Rank, Miss Elizabeth Rank, Miss Emma Dugan and Miss Mattie Dugan.

The hardy first explorers who sailed the "Mississippi"
Said, "So far be it it's flowing!" and they let the river rip.
But Teddy came along and said, "They didn't make the trip.
And it's me for Mississippi in the mornin'!"

With senators and congressmen and governors galore,
He treads the steeper's decks and sights the crowds that throng the shore,
And the cry thrills from the lowlands, "He's discovered us once more,
And he'll map the Mississippi in the mornin'!"

MUCH CONCERN FELT

Ordinary Methods of Treating Catarrh Prove Unsuccessful

Recent statistics showing an increase in catarrh have shaken the confidence of medical men in the usual prescriptions to safeguard human health from the ravages of this disease.

When stomach dosing proved ineffective, it was natural to look for some other treatment, and it is believed that in Hyomei an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles has at last been found. Breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, its healing medication reaches every spot where there are catarrhal germs, destroys them, prevents their future growth, and soothes the irritated mucous membrane so that relief is felt almost instantly, while lasting cure is sure to follow.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and it is sold by H. P. Dunn under an absolute agreement to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. It is the only cure for catarrh that has ever been sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures, but H. P. Dunn has so much faith in its power to cure all catarrhal troubles that he is willing to take the risk, so if Hyomei does not help you, there will not be a penny's expense. Get an outfit at once on this liberal plan.

HARTJE DIVORCE CASE

Pittsburg Millionaire Seeks to Reopen Sensational Suit.

LETTERS FROM COACHMAN

Alleged to Prove the Accusations Made by the Wealthy Paper Manufacturer Against His Wife—Woman in the Case Remains Silent.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Claiming that they have letters which passed between Thomas Madine, coachman, and Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, which will result in a complete reversal of affairs, counsel for Augustus Hartje, the wealthy Pittsburg manufacturer, appeared before the superior court here Monday to argue on a petition for reopening the sensational suit for divorce which he brought against his wife.

The petition for reopening the case was filed with the court in chamber on Saturday and has not been made public officially. The attorneys in the case expected the argument would be heard Monday but the court adjourned without giving them an opportunity to be heard.

In the petition presented to the court for Mr. Hartje he recites that since the hearing in the case he has secured letters written by Thomas Madine, the coachman, while he was in Ireland, to Mrs. Hartje while she was at the Hotel Victoria in London and others which she wrote to the coachman from there. He relates that he is in a position to prove that Mrs. Hartje arranged with the employees of the hotel to have the letters delivered privately to her and that she supplied Madine with envelopes addressed to herself. He further avers that Mrs. Hartje arranged with a hair dresser, Ambros, of 274 Rue St. Honore, Paris, to mail letters through him to Madine and that she received letters from the coachman and sent money to him through the same avenue.

He relates that the receipt of the letters by Madine were established through Madine's mother at Down Patrick, Ireland, and by the testimony of the coachman's sister. The petitioner sets forth that the letters were in the possession of Madine's mother until July of this year when he wrote for them and that on Aug. 5 they were delivered by Madine to a representative of Mr. Hartje in Toronto, Can.

Other letters which the petitioner says he has found since the case was heard, were written, he alleges, by Helen Scott and Ida Scott to Howard A. Lappe of Pittsburg, in which the writers indicate that unless their parents paid them a certain sum of money each month they would "turn in" for the petitioner. These letters were written, according to the petition, on April 27 and April 29, 1907.

MRS. HARTJE IS SILENT.

Refuses to Discuss New Phases of the Case.

Pittsburg, Oct. 8.—Very little of a definite nature is known here regarding the sensational developments in the Hartje divorce case which are alleged by the woman's husband, Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufacturer of this city.

The confession which Thomas Madine, the coachman correspondent, is said to have made to Mr. Hartje's representatives has created a profound impression. It was learned that Madine was married recently and is now in Belfast, Ireland, with his wife. It is said Madine intends to make that place his permanent home.

Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, who is visiting at Ligonier Springs, Pa., in a telephone conversation with this city refused to discuss the new phases of the case as alleged by her husband. The petition to the supreme court results, it is said, upon the discovery of a package of letters alleged to have been written by the two sisters of Mrs. Hartje and Thomas Madine, the object being to show that Mrs. Hartje was guilty of the charges of intimacy brought against her by her husband. These letters of Mrs. Hartje's sisters are alleged to contain damaging admissions. Much documentary evidence and a confession, it is alleged, have been secured from Madine.

Within a short time, it is promised, a still greater sensation will be made public by Mrs. Hartje's counsel.

Concerning the letters alleged to have been written by Ida Scott, a sister of Mrs. Hartje, it is said they were addressed to Howard Lappe of this city. It was Lappe who eloped to Youngstown, O., with Ida Scott last spring, but parental objections prevented the marriage.

Referring to the letters, Augustus Hartje said:

"The circumstances surrounding the recovery of additional letters leave no doubt that they are genuine and establish beyond question that the charges I made were true. The letters from Mrs. Hartje's own sister prove that she knew the charges against the woman from whom I seek a divorce are true. There is no possible way to deny the authenticity or genuineness of those letters sent to Lappe."

Received by Wireless Station Twelve Thousand Miles Distant.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 8.—While Marconi experts were testing new receiving cones at the top of the towers at the station at Port Morien, an operator was in communication with the wireless station at Manila. The message received was that the American cruiser Philadelphia had arrived there. The Marconi people account for the occurrence by the theory that the cone at Manila must have been in perfect tune with that at Port Morien.

The message from Manila was picked up while being sent to some other station on the Pacific or to a war vessel. The message was recorded by an operator in the receiving room at the Marconi station at the time the experts were experimenting in an effort to receive messages from Ireland. They received several messages from the Irish station and were in the act of making further tests when the instruments recorded the arrival of the Philadelphia at Manila.

The Marconi people say that no mistake was made and that the message was undoubtedly sent by the Manila station, which is about 12,000 miles distant, and that as a result experiments with the stations in the East will shortly be attempted.

Port Morien, where the Marconi station is located, is the most easterly town in Cape Breton. It is twenty-five miles east of Sydney.

BY CUTTING HIS THROAT.

Philadelphia Manufacturer Commits Suicide.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Hyman Hungerfelder, aged fifty-two years, a manufacturer of this city, committed suicide by cutting his throat. Unable to meet a judgment, he took his six-year-old son John and went to his place of business. He sharpened a large knife and when he had finished, he sent the child home, telling him to bring his mother to the establishment. When the wife responded she found Hungerfelder with his throat cut. Half an hour later Mrs. Hungerfelder received a letter from New York that contained a check sufficient to cover the judgment.

LENGTH OF THE DAYS

Difference Between the Star Day and the Sun Day.

IT IS GREATEST IN WINTER.

Why the Difference Occurs and How It May Be Observed—Oddly Enough the Shortest Day in the Year Is Really the Longest Day in Time.

How long, after all, is a day? The geographers say that it is the time required for the earth to turn once on its axis, that it measures twenty-four hours by the clock and that a fraction more than 365 of them are to be found in a year.

It is a good plan when one reads anything in a book to test it when he can for himself. We want to see just how long it takes the earth to turn over once. Let us take any one of the fixed stars that chances to be in line with some convenient point and, watch in hand, notice the precise moment at which the star touches, let us say, a particular tree, branch or steeple on the horizon line. If on the next evening we stand at precisely the same spot and sight the same star again in line with the same point as before, then we shall know that the earth has turned on its axis just once.

Curiously enough, however, we shall discover, if this is done carefully, that, in spite of what the books say, it does not require twenty-four hours for the earth to turn over once. About four minutes before the day is up, by the clock, the earth has revolved once and brought the star back to its old position in the sky. Really, then, the earth turns on its axis once in twenty-three hours, fifty-six minutes and four seconds and, as one can easily reckon, makes something more than 366 revolutions in a year.

But human beings are not so much interested in the stars as in the sun. We really don't care much how long it takes the earth to turn over and bring a star back again to the same point in the sky or how many times in a year a star seems to go by. We set our clocks and reckon our year by the turning of the earth under the sun, and because the earth not only turns under the sun, but also goes round it, it takes about four minutes longer to bring the sun up to its old place in the sky than to bring back a star. This comes about simply enough. Suppose one is in a room looking out the window at a tree. If he turns round once exactly he will find himself looking straight at the tree again, but if he tried the same thing when he was on a moving train he would find that while he was making the turn the tree had fallen behind. He would then, according to the way he twirled, have to turn a little more or a little less to bring the tree straight before his nose.

Therefore it is not quite true that a day is the time required for the earth to turn once on its axis. It really is this time plus the four minutes or so required for it to turn and look back at the sun. The time required for this extra turn is not the same at all times in the year. One can easily see in the case of the moving train that the faster the cars were moving or the nearer the track the tree stood the more the latter would seem to shift its position. Since the earth is some 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun in winter than in summer, and since also the nearer the sun it is the faster it travels, the difference between star day and sun day is greatest in winter.

Oddly enough, it happens that Dec. 22, which has the least daylight of any day in the year and is therefore commonly said to be the shortest of all days, is really the longest. It does, as a matter of fact, run almost half a minute over twenty-four hours, while the true shortest day, which comes on Sept. 17, falls short by about the same time.

So we really have three different "days." There is the star day, which is the time during which the earth turns over once. This, because the earth spins steadily, is always the same length, twenty-three hours, fifty-six minutes, four and nine-hundredths seconds, and there are 366 of them in a year. Then there is the ordinary legal day, which is the time required for a proper clock to get round twice. This is just twenty-four hours. Besides these, there is the sun day, its time told by the sundial, which, taking short with long, averages twenty-four hours, but is never found to be exactly the same length for two days in succession.

There is a string of long days in the winter, followed by a series of short ones in the spring. In the summer the sun days get long again, though not quite so long as in the winter. In the autumn come the shortest days of all. Only occasionally are clock day and sun day of the same length. Only four times a year do clock noon by the clock hands and sun noon by the sundial occur at the same moment, while, because the long and short sun days are found in sets, they oftentimes may be more than fifteen minutes apart.

The vast majority of the people reckon their time by the sun. But time for civilized men is time by the clock. The days are all twenty-four hours long, and no matter where the sun is it is noon for us when the clock strikes 12. Nevertheless, astronomers often go by star time, get in an extra day in each year and have their noon fall at all times of the day or night.—E. T. Brewster in Chicago Record-Herald.

It is a kindly act to help the fallen.—Ovid.

TO BE HELD IN CINCINNATI

Next Convention of German-American National Alliance.

New York, Oct. 8.—With three cheers for President Roosevelt and three more for Emperor William of Germany, the convention of the German-American National Alliance adjourned to meet next year in Cincinnati. President Hexemer's announcement that he would not under any circumstances accept re-election had no effect whatever when the convention voted for new officers for the coming year. No other delegate would stand against Dr. Hexemer and he was carried around the hall on the shoulders of the delegates until he consented to serve another term.

Dr. Joseph Keller of Indianapolis, John Tjarks of Baltimore, Colonel Stahl of Trenton and John F. Cappelmann of Charlestown were elected first, second, third and fourth vice presidents, respectively. Adolph Timms of Philadelphia was re-elected secretary, Hans Wenish was re-elected treasurer and John Yeany of Pittsburg was elected financial secretary.

Before the convention adjourned it was voted to co-operate with alliances of other nationalities with regard to the immigration question.

"Outlaw" Ride Is Fatal.

Marshall, Minn., Oct. 8.—John Edwards is dead from injuries sustained while attempting to ride an "outlaw" horse owned by one of the local liverymen. The animal had successfully resisted all attempts to master him, and Edwards, who had quite a local reputation for horsemanship, made the attempt, but was thrown, striking on his head, sustaining injuries which resulted fatally.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weak kidneys and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine of extent has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement of each of its several ingredients with more than any other remedy of ordinary non-professional fame. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

Queen Called "Alix."

Queen Alexandra is but one of many royal ladies who bear the petit nom of "Alix." Her two nieces, Princess Alexandrina of Hesse, who is now the widow of the Grand Duke Sergius, of Russia, and the present czarina of Russia, are both known as "Alix." The empress was, in fact, christened by this pretty name, much as Queen Victoria of Spain boasts of the diminutive "Ena" among her many other names.
